Christmas Gifts for the Children of Europe.

Since the outbreak of the war it has looked as though the little children of Europe would have nothing pleasant to make the Christmas of 1914 a memorable one; but on the contrary would spend the day with their parents in poverty and sorrow. It is true that they will probably be poverty-stricken and sorrowful, but some good, kind person in America has suggested that Santa Claus will sail from New York and Los Angeles with ships laden with gifts for Europe's children. It was a timely suggestion and was met with approval everywhere. And from now until time to send the packages individuals and organizations will be busy planning and making presents to send away.

Following close in the wake of their mainland sisters the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary and the Guild of St. Andrew's Cathedral met on Tuesday and discussed the advisability of Hawaii's taking a part in making the war children happy on the anniversary of the coming of "The Prince of Peace." A committee has been appointed with Mrs. W. L. Emory as chairman and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Mrs. J. W. Caldwell and Mrs. C. M. V. Foster as assistants, to collect funds and gifts to be sent to Los Angeles and from there to the war zone. The ladies have asked for the help of all those who are interested in the venture, and will be glad to receive gifts or money, and those wishing to assist may do so by communicating with any of the ladies on the committee.

Duke Kahanamoku Entertained.

Mrs. Jessie Blake Franklin of 1127 West Thirty-seventh drive gave a charming banquet on Wednesday evening, September 3, in honor of Duke Kahanamoku of Honolulu. The gentleman is in this city for an extended visit, both of pleasure and state. Mrs. Franklin is a musician well known here, the guests, numbering 14, being chiefly noted in musical circles also. The affair was the first to be given in the handsome new diningroom which Mrs. Franklin has recently had rebuilt in her already delightful home, and was greatly enjoyed by all present.—Los Angeles Advertiser.

Captain and Mrs. J. S. Johnston To Leave Honolulu.

The news that Captain and Mrs. J. S. Johnston are to leave Honolulu has not been well received at Fort Ruger, where the popular captain and his charming wife have lived for the past four and a half years, or at the other posts where they are frequently seen at the social gatherings.

Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. E. J. Timberlake, two of the most popular ladies at the Diamond Head post, are both lost to Honolulu society. Several months ago Major Timberlake and his wife left for the mainland.

The younger set, too, is bewailing the departure of the Johnstons, for their son Harold is a student at Punahou Academy, where he took a place on Punahou's second team in football last year and where he was expected to make the first team this term. In all probability he will play in the games before leaving for Puget Sound, where his father has been ordered.

Honolulu is fortunate in many respects, not the least of which is the visit of Lionel Walden, an artist of more than ordinary ability whose paintings grace the walls of the homes of many collectors as well as those of the government buildings in France, and again that there are persons here who have sufficient regard for art to buy his pictures. A picture in the Gurry art store attracts much attention because of its brilliant coloring contrasted with the deep shadows from the hills of the Isle of Capri. The subjects that have been handled with characteristic facility are the boat with its occupants in the middle distance and the two fishermen mending their nets as they sit in the shadow of the hills. Mr. Walden's handling of the water in the cove, setting into it, the reflections from the white boat, is masterly. These were features that attracted much attention to the canvas while it was in the Paris salon. It is pleasant to know that the painting will remain in Honolulu, Mrs. Charles M. Cooke having purchased it from the artist.

The Fort Ruger Bridge Club.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank D. Appleton entertained at their quarters last Saturday evening for the Fort Ruger Bridge Club. At the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served and prizes awarded to Captain Clark, Captain Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Appleton, who made the highest scores. The guests included Colonel and Mrs. Wilmot E. Ellis, Captain and Mrs. John Stuart Johnston, Captain and Mrs. Frederick W. Phisterer, Mrs. Phisterer, Sr., Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Demmer, Captain Charles A. Clark, Lieutenant and Mrs. Harold F. Nichols and Lieutenant and Mrs. George F. Humbert.

Kamm-Bonnell Nuptials.

Honolulu friends of Mr. Jacob G. Kamm of Portland, Oregon, have received announcements of his marriage in the coast city. He stopped here for several months last summer on his way around the world. An announcement says:

Mr. Jacob Gray Kamm Married Miss Florence Etogile Connell on Thursday, September seventeenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, Portland, Oregon.

An Unusual Experience

For Transpacific Travelers. The transpacific travelers aboard the Matsonia and Wilhelmina had a novel experience as the two boats were bound for San Francisco and Honolulu respectively. The boats met and stopped in midocean where two stowaways were transferred. Though the boats were a little ways apart some of the passengers conversed with friends who were bound for the Hawaiian and mainland ports.

Honoluluans, too, were surprised on Tuesday when they received mail from friends who had departed for San Francisco a week before. Some of the passengers aboard the Matsonia who mailed cards in midocean were Miss Milward Deas, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Hibberd, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Lillie and Professor and Mrs. Hermann S. Herings.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham Entertain.

One of the delightfully informal dinner parties of the week was that at which Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham entertained on Thursday evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Walter F. Frear, where they are residing during Mrs. Frear's absence on the mainland. A pretty centerpiece of varicolored carnations adorned the table where covers were laid for Governor Pinkham, Dr. and Mrs. Adams, Miss Eueke and the host and hostess.

Shower for Miss Winan.

Miss Margaret Winan was the motif for a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday afternoon at which Miss Gertrude Hopkins entertained at Schofield Barracks. This is one of the first of the affairs which is to be given for Miss Winan, who is one of the attractive brides-elect of the army post. Miss Hopkins chose red for her decorations and her home was a bower of bright red flowers. About 60 guests called during the afternoon, a number of them having motored to the garrison from the local posts.

A Week-End Party.

John O'Dowda, who graduated from Punahou Academy this summer, is entertaining a house party this weekend at his home at Ewa. During the years he attended the academy Mr. O'Dowda entertained at a number of similar affairs which were greatly enjoyed by his guests. Those who will leave for the country today are Miss Mildred Chapin, Miss Dorothy Hawk, Miss Esther Hawk, John Gifford and Stafford Austin.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Nalle Entertain.

Miss Margaret Winan has been the guest of honor at a number of delightful entertainments since her engagement to Lieutenant Russell Maxwell was announced. On Tuesday evening Lieutenant and Mrs. William Nalle were host and hostess at a kitchen shower for this charming young woman. Lieutenant and Mrs. Nalle's quarters were prettily decorated with quantities of maidenhair, ferns and potted palms for the occasion. Among those present were Miss Margaret Winan, Lieutenant and Mrs. Andrews, Lieutenant and Mrs. Harold Naylor, Lieutenant and Mrs. Raymond C. Baird, Miss Betty Case, Miss Hortense Short, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Miss Dorothy Forsythe, Lieutenant Russell Maxwell, Lieutenant Walter M. Robertson, Lieutenant John H. General and Mrs. William H. Carter will be guests of honor at a prettily appointed dinner at the Pleasanton Hotel tomorrow evening at which Lieutenant and Mrs. Jerome G. Pillow are entertaining. Pink and green will be the color scheme for the decorations and will be carried out with the Spanish vine and maidenhair fern. The invited guests are General and Mrs. William H. Carter, Colonel and Mrs. C. H. Bromwell, Miss Betty Case, Major and Mrs. William M. Cruikshank, Captain and Mrs. George H. Jamerson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deering, Major and Mrs. Guignard, Major Arthur L. Conklin and Lieutenant and Mrs. Sloan.

Surprise Party for Miss Yarrow.

Miss Florence Yarrow was the guest of honor at a surprise party on Monday night at which Miss Carrie Gilman was hostess. The occasion of the affair was Miss Yarrow's birthday, and though she knew that a few friends were invited to dinner she was quite overcome with surprise when later in the evening a score of other friends gathered at her home in Kaimuki. Covers were laid at the dinner table for Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Miss Florence Yarrow, Mrs. Francis Day, Mr. and Mrs. May, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt and Miss Carrie Gilman. Some of those who called during the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. John Erdman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hopper, Miss Margaret Hopper, Rev. and Mrs. Eberole, Mrs. Charles Hall, Mrs. William Pate, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Miss Spencer, Miss Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Moore and Mrs. Wells Peterson.

Mrs. Charles Hall delighted the guests during the evening with a number of vocal solos, Mrs. Macdonald recited and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt rendered several piano selections.

The New Commander at Schofield.

General and Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards left their beautiful home in Manoa valley this week for Schofield Barracks, where the general will have charge of the garrison. Since her arrival in Honolulu several months ago Mrs. Edwards has been entertained extensively both by the ladies of the service set and those of the town-folk. On numerous occasions she has been a delightful hostess at pleasantly informal functions.

The ladies of Schofield, however, are as delighted to receive Mrs. Edwards as the Honolulu society matrons are sorry to lose her and it is expected that her arrival at the post will be an inspiration for a number of social events this fall.

A Baby Party.

Honolulu mothers with their little children, who have always made it a rule to do little entertaining and less visiting while their children were young, have found a delightful way to escape this social retirement. During the past few weeks a number of baby parties have been given at which the mothers entertain their own friends as well as those of their children. One of these entertainments which took place this week was the birthday party at which Mrs. J. R. M. MacLean entertained on Monday afternoon. Mrs. MacLean's home in Kaimuki was prettily decorated for the occasion with quantities of pink hibiscus and the tables at which the little guests and their mothers were seated were arranged with maypole streamers of soft pink ribbons to which were attached a tiny kiewpie. The place cards were ornamented with little babies.

During the afternoon the children played games and prizes were awarded.

Among those present were Mrs. James Guild and her daughter Edith, Mrs. C. Arstad and Little May, Mrs. F. Anderson with Lillian, Mrs. Ray B. Rietow with Ray Gibson, Mrs. Lewis Underwood and May, Mrs. Henri Barger and Lehua, Mrs. J. Bryant, Mrs. M. B. Balros, Mrs. R. J. Coddington, Miss Roberta Clark, Mrs. A. Deuse and her daughter Helen, Mrs. W. C. McCoy with Elinor, Miss Kathleen Stone, Mrs. F. Asch and Rennie, Miss Janetta MacLean and Miss Jessie MacLean.

Basket Luncheon.

The Woman's Board of Missions and Woman's Society of Central Union church will meet at the parish house at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning and after an hour has been devoted to the regular business session of the latter organization, basket luncheons will be exchanged and a social hour will be enjoyed. At 2 o'clock the Woman's Board will convene and the regular monthly meeting business conducted.

The joint meetings of the two church organizations occur but once a quarter and have always proven enjoyable affairs, for not only are they acquainted with the work of each other, but the members who as a rule are too busy for social calls have an opportunity to meet and converse.

A Bridge Tea.

Mrs. William B. Lymer was hostess at a delightfully informal bridge tea Saturday afternoon at her home on Beretania street. Pink was the color chosen by Mrs. Lymer for her decorations and the house was abloom with fragrant pink roses. After spending the afternoon at cards cool refreshments were served the guests. Some among those present were: Miss Sarah Lucas, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Marjorie Freeth, Mrs. John Howard Ellis, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Gertrude McCornist, Miss Ethel Carter, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Pauline Schaefer, Mrs. Cyril Hoops, Miss Dorothy Guild, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Renny Catton, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Norma Adams, Mrs. Floyd Emmons and the hostess.

What Every Woman Ought to Know

If all the women in this city knew—as expert corset women know—how much

MODART CORSETS Front Laced

excell other front-laced corsets, there would be only one front-laced corset sold in Honolulu, and that one the MODART.

Economy is a subject worthy of your attention—and by economy we do not mean lowest price. Durability is economy. A comfortable, well fitting corset is a great health conservator. That's economy—both of health and money.

Have a trial fitting of a MODART and you will readily see and feel wherein it is superior.
